

Last Post and Latest Reply navigation

The Latest Reply link takes the user to the last post that was added or modified and hence is not necessarily to the last page of a thread. This is very inconvenient with threads that have multiple pages as it sometimes requires to go page by page to get to the very end.

There seems to be no way to go directly to the last page of a thread in order to see the last response, regardless of using a "threaded" or "flat" view. This is probably not a software setting and will require the Jive developer to mark posts with a "last" marker, however, I think such a feature is rather essential and should be requested.
